Notes on Data

- All figures have a citation in the bottom right with the url to the public data source provided by California Department of Education where the data is found as well as identifying what year the data represents.
- The most recent publicly available data is used.
- Different data sources identify racial groups differently. The axis labels use the terms used in that data source.
- Graphs with a vertical list of numbers represent the size of the total group from which the percentage for that bar is derived.

AP Notes

- College Board does not include total enrollments, so rates by racial group are not available
- There are big drops in 2020 and even more substantial drops in 2021.
- They use scores of 3,4 or 5 versus what I did of 4 or 5
- Exams taken by race are similar but don't match CDE numbers exactly
- SAT numbers dropped to almost none in 2021
